Reaching Rural Precincts:

- JCDCC overall is doing a good job. Neighborhood Leader Program is working well. There is some concern of people being contacted multiple times and becoming annoyed.. maybe a few, but mostly good response.
- The focus is a big push to get ballots turned in and info out in communities.

Election Protection:

- Are there volunteers available to sit at the clerk's office to oversee ballot counting and ensuring procedures are being followed correctly.
- Brian will contact the clerk's office to get a more accurate protocol of what a Coordinator looks like and the time one would have to invest during the elections.

Campaign progress:

- Kate Brown – a dialog needs to be presented to people of all the positive actions she has taken on behalf of Josephine Co. in regards to the fires and our Sheriff's office. Sheri will continue to advocate on social media and directing folks to her website and dems office.
- Jamie Mcleod-Skinner – Good momentum and hopeful for a win.
- Others – Judges, most uncontested no opinion.
- A focus for next year is a Democratic Commissioner for the next election

November Meeting Agenda:

- Nominations presented and process clarified for elections in December
- November regular meeting is moved to Election Night 11/6. An email to membership, posting on Website and social media will be sent in regards to it being a Pot Luck and bring your own drink. JCDCC will provide water.
- The National Elections progress will be on Big screen and a TV for local races.

Other:

- JCDCC will be hosting CD4s November 18th meeting. Lynda Spangler is the coordinator. Venue is being decided and a notification will go out with details as soon as they are arranged.
- After Elections and a breather...there will be a big bash to regain energy in 2019. Stay tuned for details.
